U. S. APPOINTMENT TO CHECK FRENCH REPARATION POLICY

POINCARÉ TO FIND ONE STAND IS NOT FEASIBLE.

FRANCE OUTVOTED

Lineup of Commission Heavily for Moderation Toward Germany.

By DAVID LAWRENCE.

Copyright 1922, by Janesville Gazette.

Washington.—The United States government has one move left which may make it unnecessary to attend the Genoa conference and which may make the new Poincaré ministry in France see that ultimately it cannot pursue a single handed policy in sending German reparations.

This move is the appointment by President Harding, subject to the confirmation of the senate, of an American representative on the reparations commission.

The prediction was made in official quarters that the step was inevitable as a consequence of the new designation of Poincaré.

France will not go to the Genoa conference unless it is accorded the right to make reparations on a basis which will not be discussed. Coming on top of the statement by Poincaré that he thinks the allied supreme council will not insist upon a literal return to the provisions of the Versailles treaty, the belief prevails that the French premier will insist that the reparations commission will be the one to determine the amount of reparations which it is that when the supreme council took the matter of reparations out of the hands of the commission.

The economic and political critics have ever since characterized as "illegal" in the sense that it violated the Versailles treaty.

Writing for America.

The truth is that the supreme council was willing for America to make the reparations commission have too much power. On the other hand, the United States has ratified its own treaty with Germany which embraces the economic and reparations clauses of the Versailles treaty and entitles America to a seat in the reparations commission.

The senate adopted a reservation requiring that to obtain the confirmation of the senate for any appointment to international commissions provided for under the German treaty.

But in view of the turn of events it is not expected that the senate will ratify the German treaty.

Prevost Girl Lost Memory in Fatty Trial

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

San Francisco.—The court room had warmed up and attorneys cooled off perceptibly when the trial of "Fatty" Arbuckle on a charge of manslaughter growing out of the death of Miss Virginia Rappe, was resumed Friday.

The girl of justice, who the trial is being held, was ordered heated more adequately following Thursday's cold snap, which forced jurors into their overcoats.

Attorneys heated Thursday, however, as a result of an argument over testimony of Miss Zey Prevost, show girl, a prosecution witness.

Miss Prevost contradicted testimony she gave at Arbuckle's trial, when she testified she "could not remember." She was ordered back to court against Friday and there was some uncertainty about what role she would play in the day's sessions.

Both trains were moving slowly. The out-of-bound train, however, as a result of an argument over testimony of Miss Zey Prevost, show girl, a prosecution witness.

SEE MILLER RAPS BELLOIT CHARITIES

Claims Beloit's "Elite" Wanted to Run the Entire Relief System.

George Seegmiller, former postmaster in the Beloit district and one time a board member, came before the county supervisors here Friday, to defend his relief work during 1921 in the southern district, which was severely censured. The debate on poor relief has been the main issue before the board since the county board moved to the new building here.

The discussion became over the alleged leaks in Beloit and failure of the county postmaster to cooperate with the United Charities, that the county board moved to the new building here.

On top of the dispute between Seegmiller and Supervisor W. S. Perrigo, who defended the United Charities, was the "better class" of people, Simon Smith, Beloit, took the floor and delivered a cutting speech on the "elite" of Beloit.

Object to that expression better class," examined the veteran Beloit supervisor, "Perrigo tells you that the society women are behind the United Charities. Here to tell you those people who inherited a fortune don't have any more brains than the wives of the working people in Beloit."

"These women who are behind the United Charities never washed a dish, never did a day's work and never will—but still they can attempt to run the charity work. I object to throwing dirt in the face of the working man."

There has been evidence of friction between the postmaster and the Beloit United Charities, Seegmiller declared.

"I would not work with them because they wanted to control the whole thing. I have come to them and asked that poor people be given clothes or milk and they turned me down. Right now I say that if I had worked under the United Charities I would not have been a good servant of the county board."

I was a system where I would furnish the food and bare necessities and they the clothes and some luxuries for the poor—but they refused."

Postmaster Seegmiller charged that the Fairbanks-Morse company and broken faith with him by collecting rent out of the wages of the poor before those of the county relief had a chance to collect money from the unemployed—"they got jobs."

"They made sure they got the rent and the county could wait," charged Seegmiller.

ILLEGITIMACY IS NOT DENIED, SAYS STILLMAN LAWYER

COUNSEL ARGUES AGAINST $7,500 PAYMENT TO WIFE.

LETTERS ARE READ

"Little Black Bear" Message and Other Missives to Beauvais Recalled.

New York.—Statements that Mrs. Anne U. Stillman had never denied her husband's contention that baby Guy-Stillman is illegitimate, were made Friday before the appellate division of the supreme court in Brooklyn, by former presiding Justice A. L. Jenks, counsel for James A. Stillman in his suit for divorce.

Mr. Jenks, arguing for the appeal against an order directing Mr. Stillman to pay his wife $7,500 costs for a hearing in Canada, declared that baby Guy-Stillman was born during the last nine months and that no accounting had been made for any of the money.

The law, he says, provides that allowances shall be made only when the defendant can show reasonable probability of success and "Mrs. Stillman's defense so far has not indicated that probability."

Recalled Messages.

The co-respondent, Fred Beauvais, an Indian guide, has many times been within the jurisdiction of the court, but he had never been called, Mr. Jenks said.

The plaintiff in his complaint alleges that Mrs. Stillman lived continuously with Fred Beauvais in violation of her marriage vows. The lawyer continued, "She says, 'these charges are denied.' There is nothing to show that she denies the possibility that she may have miscondemned herself with Beauvais one or more times."

Mr. Jenks recalled testimony that Beauvais said, "I hope Guy will some day know his father." He recalled the disappearance of Mrs. Stillman's wedding ring, the "two letters in language which I read as 'characterize' the telegram, 'little black bear has arrived,' alleged to have been sent to Beauvais when Guy was born, the notes Mrs. Stillman is charged with having received from Beauvais, and other incidents.

Letters pleading deep affection, written by Beauvais to Mrs. Stillman, and received by him from her were read. A note purporting to have been written to Beauvais by Mrs. Stillman, and marked as an exhibit in the case, also was read. It said: "Looks like a dream today—pink cheeks and dark eyes and as happy. He sends you his piece of cake with his one candle and his love."

This note, alleged to have followed a birthday party for Guy, and the two letters attributed to Beauvais, were filed in the case several months ago, and were connected with the county clerk's office at Carmel, N. Y., where Mr. Stillman began his divorce suit in July, 1920.

They were unsealed because the county superior court judge ruled that Stillman's appeal from the $7,500 expense order.

CITY MUST GIVE Quick Notice on Hospital Cases

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Rock county finally turned down the petition of the city of Janesville for paying hospital bills for the poor unless the county authorities are notified within 24 hours after the patient is taken to either Mercy or the city detention hospital.

The liability of Rock county to pay the bill was explained by District Attorney S. G. Dunwiddie.

There is no question but what the county was liable for guaranteeing the care of the poor, but the county cannot expect to place a patient in a hospital, run a bill and then expect the county to pay for it.

The supervisors adopted the motion of L. A. Marham, Janesville, to establish a rule that the city must notify the county within 24 hours after a case is taken where the county will not assume liability.

CARE OF POOR IS ALL DAY TOPIC

County Board Wants to Establish Some Definite Relief Policy.

The relief policies are to be established between the county and the cities for medical relief work and payment of charges incident to quarantine work as the result of action taken by the supervisors Thursday. The poor relief issue was about the only important one discussed by the board last day.

The supervisors turned a deaf ear to the bill of $300 presented by the city of Janesville for the expenses for people of Janesville taken to the hospital. The supervisors declared the poormaster or any other county authority had not been notified of the patient being in the hospital according to the agreement made for such cases some years ago.

Hills, the Doctors.

"The trouble is with our doctors in the city," it was explained. "Instead of sending the poor patients to the county farm they send them to the hospital and charge it to us. They will have to stop sending patients to the hospital without notifying the county. Let the doctors send the needy cases to the county house and, if they need, operate there."

City Attorney Roger Cunningham appeared before the board to explain the bill and request an agreement on the part of the county to have the city give $500 to the hospital for emergency cases and this year the total bills amounted to more than $1,500 and the county has to pay the city for the cost of the total charges—and thus far the county has refused.

Establish Policies.

After considerable discussion the Janesville hospital bill was referred to the committee on general claims and the committee ordered to confer with District Attorney S. G. Dunwiddie to establish rules on the hospital cases and also who will pay quarantine fees.

"We do not care so much about the county paying this bill as that there be full cooperation and understanding on how to handle future cases," explained the city attorney.

Alderman John Harlow appeared before the board but did not speak for allowance of the city bill.

"We are going to take care of the county and I don't see where we are under any obligations to pay this bill or any other for the city officials agreed to notify our health authorities as soon as they are taken to the hospital," advised D. A. McCarthy, Porter supervisor.

7TH GRADE PUPILS STORY, "THE BAD MAN" IS BEST SUBMITTED

In a contest held recently at St. Patrick's school, the story, "The Bad Man," written by Francis Hoffmann, of the seventh grade, was awarded the prize. It is as follows:

"One summer day a man came home from his work. He told his little daughter to hurry, she did not know who was coming with the meat. She who was coming with the meat she dropped the platter. Her father became angry and threw her to the floor. He said, 'Hurry up and get dinner.' The little child did as she was told.

"She put a bandage on her head for it was very sore, for her father had hurt her, when he hit her.

"While he was eating two men came. They sat down and ate a bite with the girl's father. They were spies for her father in a fight. The father thought that the little girl had gone away but she had hidden under the table. The men were telling the little girl's father how they were going to kill her uncle, because he had double-crossed them once. The men said they would kill him with an axe and bury him under the barn.

"The little girl was frightened when she heard this. She thought to herself she would try to save her uncle.

"She sneaked out the trap-door under the table and ran quickly out the cellar door, down the street. She went to the first policeman she could find and told him about what had happened.

"The policeman went to the house and pulled out a .32 caliber revolver, and ordered the men to get out. They were put on a pair of handcuffs. They were then taken to jail, placed in one cell and the handcuffs left on their heads.

"He then thanked the little girl and rewarded her with a diamond ring and $50.

"She left the police station feeling good and went to her uncle's house where she lived for the rest of her life."

MANY PUPILS QUIT SCHOOL TOO EARLY, ANTISDEL WARNS

Too many children drop out of school when they reach the fourth and fifth grades, before they have received even the rudiments of an education, County Supt. O. B. Antisdel told the county board of supervisors in making his annual report Thursday afternoon. It is at this time that the paupers, felons and criminals come, he declared.

"The war brought out the appalling statistics that one-fourth of our population is illiterate and another one-fourth is scarcely better off," remarked Mr. Antisdel.

The superintendent told of a compilation of figures he had made showing that 18 1/2 per cent of the children of Rock county have given up school work between the fifth and eighth grades in the past four years. Last year it was 24 per cent, he said.

"The business depression last year had a good effect inasmuch as it turned people's thoughts to the importance of education and as a result our school attendance was kept up to the average despite the times," he reported.

"Five new school buildings were erected and two more were remodelled. Eight rural schools are now closed and the pupils are being transported to other schools. Half of the 35 teachers in the schools under my supervision are graduates of the Rock county training school."

Telling of the school society, newspaper, agriculture, and other work being done in the schools, Mr. Antisdel said he hoped to have the three "R's" are not being forgotten.

EGGS STAY FIRM AT 39-42 CENTS

Toboggan Slide Ended for Time Being—Butter Jumps 1 and 2 Cents.

Prices on strictly fresh eggs in the city, after a remarkable drop of more than 20 cents in three weeks, have come to a standstill, now selling for 39 and 41 and 42 cents a dozen, the same price that prevailed a week ago. Butter has stopped its toboggan slide and is now regaining a little, having advanced 1 and 2 cents this week. It now costs all the way from 33 to 41 cents, depending upon the brand.

Eggs are finding a ready sale in the city, due to the prevailing price which is lower than it has been for several years in the winter season. It is not believed they will go to the high market of a few weeks ago, although they may advance some before the winter is over.

Few other changes are noted in the prices of articles on the market. Cranberries, which have kept up a steady advance since Thanksgiving, now cost 35 and 40 cents, practically the same as last week. The demand for them has dropped off considerably. Celery has advanced in price, due to a scarcity at the distribution centers. It now costs 15, 18 and 20 cents a stalk but is of the best quality.

Yellow beans have appeared, selling for 35 cents a pound, and look even better than those on the market in the summer season.

Apples, after November, usually stand at 25 cents a bushel. The great variety of this fruit makes it possible to buy apples from five pounds for a quarter to 10 cents each. Oranges remain at 45, 50, 60 and 65 cents a dozen, grapefruit at 2, 3 and 4 for a quarter, and tangerines, 50 cents a dozen. Lemons are 40 cents a dozen and bananas 12 and 15 cents a pound.

The following prices prevail in the vegetable market: Carrots, 5 cents a pound; onions, 4 pounds for 25 cents; Spanish onions, 10 cents a pound; turnips, 4 cents a pound; head lettuce, 15 and 20 cents each; leaf lettuce, 8 to 10 cents a pound; sweet potatoes, 8 to 10 cents a pound; potatoes, 35 and 40 cents a peck.

PETER TAYLOR WAS A REMARKABLE CHARACTER

The passing away of Peter Taylor of Broadhead marks the end of one of the most remarkable men that the old middle west has produced. He belonged to a class of old time sportsmen that, at this day, is almost extinct.

It is doubtful if the country has ever produced another such an original unique character. His gift for good-natured satire and story telling was marvelous. Whether at hunting camp, social gathering or the firehouse, when "Peter Taylor" began to talk, everybody listened.

In his earlier days his physical strength, endurance and courage was tremendous. It was an easy matter for him to shoulder a 500 lbs. buck and stride off through the forest, making it no easy task for anyone with him to keep up. In everything relating to woodcraft and wild life, he had a most consummate skill.

As an old time deerstalker, deer-hunter, trap shot and all around athlete, he was unsurpassed. The writer knew him and hunted with him in the north woods in the long ago, before the days of road and settlers when conditions were wild and somewhat hazardous and he invariably found him the courteous, honorable sportsman and gentleman.

The passing away of Peter Taylor of Broadhead marks the end of one of the most remarkable men that the old middle west has produced. He belonged to a class of old time sportsmen that, at this day, is almost extinct.

JANESVILLE HAS 60 GROCERS—TOO MANY, SAYS MILLER

A practical talk on "Facts and Figures in regard to Food," was given by John Miller, Chicago, before 60 men at a meeting of the Men's Forum of the Baptist church, Thursday night. He stressed the purity, nutritive value, quality and price as being determining factors in the buying of foods and that young people should be taught the principles of economical marketing.

The romantic possibilities connected with studying the foreign markets of tea, coffee and spices, was also touched upon and he emphasized the idea of consulting the merchant in regard to values in his products. It was brought out in the discussion which followed, that Janesville has 60 grocery stores, far too many, the speaker advised for efficient service.

The program was in charge of L. R. Crissey and the musical numbers were provided by Robert Cunningham.

Several of the soloists from the Rockford Legion, now in the city, gave selections. Miss Roberta Van Gilder also sang a solo, with Miss Ada Pond at the piano.

Supper was served at 8:30 in charge of Mrs. L. R. Crissey. Mrs. E. P. Dunlap, Mrs. J. S. Humphrey and Mrs. L. J. Jorg, waitresses were in charge of Miss Esther Barker, and the dining room was managed by Mrs. E. P. Dunlap. Frank Poster and Mrs. Ethel Johnson.

Mr. William Atwell won first prize in the bridge contest staged by the Supper club at the Rockford Legion. Mrs. J. S. Humphrey, Mrs. E. P. Dunlap and Mrs. L. J. Jorg, waitresses were in charge of Miss Esther Barker, and the dining room was managed by Mrs. E. P. Dunlap. Frank Poster and Mrs. Ethel Johnson.

CELLULOID SHOE BURST INTO FLAME; WEARER IS BURNED

Orfordville—Mrs. Gliman Roen suffered a painful injury a few days ago when the toe of her shoe caught fire, burning her foot severely. Mrs. Roen was sitting by the stove in which was a hot fire, when to her surprise the shoe burst into flames and before she could get it off, the fire had spread to the sole of the shoe, which was made of celluloid. An investigation showed the manufacturer of the shoe had used celluloid as a stiffener for the box toe of the shoe, and this had ignited.

YOU TELL 'EM

Reporters ask a daily question of five persons. Here's what they say:

Do you favor the Great Lakes-to-the-sea waterway project?

Hurt Thayer, 436 Cornelia street—"I certainly do. The railroads are charging altogether too much for freight. I surely think this project would be a great help to shippers, producers, and others."

George Gower, 425 South Bluff street—"Yes, it would be a great help to producers, shippers, and others. I could buy a box of apples for what the railroads charge to ship them. Railroad rates are too high."

P. E. Sadler, Hayes block—"You bet I do. This undertaking would be a great help to the whole middle west. It would help the farmers, especially in handling their produce."

George Johnson, farmer—"No, I don't think it will help much. It will be just like the railroads, with rates higher than the sky."

Frank Frame, 21 North Main street—"I haven't studied all the angles of the project enough to pass a fair opinion on it."

DEMAND GERMAN AID IN REBUILDING WAR RIDDLED VILLAGES

Paris—Inhabitants of several devastated villages along the Chemin des Dames have demanded the employment of German material and labor in their reconstruction. They asked the military authorities to organize a referendum of parishes affected to take a vote on the question. They asserted that villages had been neglected by the government for three years.

Chicago—Investigation of numerous alleged brokerage concerns, said to be operating after the fashion of old time bucket shops and dealing exclusively in "options on German marks," was under way here Friday by State's Attorney Crowe.

The investigation followed the closing of the Federal Finance company and the arrest of its proprietor, Henry A. Brandt, on a charge of gaming. According to Assistant State's Attorney W. A. Duvall, it was a game of "heads I win, tails you lose," that Brandt was playing. "The purchaser," Duvall said, "although he didn't know it, was simply betting Brandt that German marks would go above a cent and a half in six months. There is about one chance in ten million that they will."

POPE BENEDICT IS ## DYING AT VATICAN

ings at the vatican was suspended.

A great crowd began to assemble in St. Peter's to await news from the vatican.

Grew Rapidly Worse

During the early hours of Friday morning, towards 4 a. m., there was a sudden change for the worse and the pontiff's condition became critical. He had been suffering for several days, spread to his lungs.

The pontiff asked for and received the last sacrament, insisting upon this "if only to give a good example," he said, despite attempts by his attendants to dissuade him.

Cardinal Giorgi, the apostolic penitentiary, was summoned to Pope

Benedict's bedside at 8 a. m. to recite

the prayer for the dying.

The pope's physicians were in consultation at the Vatican at an early hour and the morning bulletin issued afterward, indicated an extremely serious condition. Dr. Battistini, however, stated then that while the condition of His Holiness was grave,

it was not hopeless.

Oxygen Administered

About 11 in the forenoon, however, the pope's condition became aggravated and the administration of oxygen was begun. At 11:50 o'clock the eucharist was carried to him.

Meanwhile prayers were being said, in all the churches and Catholic institutions of Rome on behalf of His Holiness and great crowds began to assemble at St. Peter's.

Sacrament Administered

Shortly after 11, Monsignor Zampini, the sacristan of the palace, accompanied by the cardinals, went to the chapel and took the sacrament to the pope. The corpse was preceded by four of the palace's guards, carrying lighted candles, four chair bearers and four uniformed private guards, the cardinals following.

Cardinal Casaroli and Monsignor

Zampini were weeping. The cortege proceeded to the papal, which was entered only by the cardinals and few of the palace priests. These who were waiting in the ante-chamber told their beads as the procession passed to the pope's bedside, where extreme unction was administered to His Holiness.

Pope Benedict, retaining the clearest consciousness, followed with deep emotion the reading of the formula of the profession of faith by Cardinal

Giorgi. After receiving the communion, he said, to Cardinal Silivestro, "I beg you to recommend me to the virgin of Pompeii."

Washington—Anxious inquiries are being received by Monsignor Bonzanno from all over the United States. In many of the dioceses, archbishops and bishops have ordered prayers for the recovery of the pope.

As the customary when the death of the pope is expected, cardinals in every part of the world must be ready to go to Rome to participate in the conclave for the election of a successor. That is the highest function of a member of the sacred college. America has two princes of the church, Cardinal William

O'Connell, Archbishop of Boston and Cardinal Dougherty, archbishop of Philadelphia. Although the conclave generally does not meet for 10 or 11 days after the death of a pope, it is not always easy for the cardinals to reach Rome in time for the election of the new head of the Catholic church. At the last conclave, after the death of Pius X, the American cardinals arrived shortly after his successor had been chosen.

There is no limit to the duration of a conclave. In the middle ages, one conclave, which sat at Viterbo, lasted about 56 miles from Rome, lasted over two years and a half. In fact it ended only because the people of the town, impatient at the state of anarchy in which the pontifical states were thrown for the want of a ruler, climbed on the top of the palace where the cardinals were gathered, and unroofed the building.

Some prominent ecclesiastics advocate a change in the rules of the conclave so that, in the present days of rapid travelling, all cardnals may reach Rome in time to enter the conclave before the election of the pope.

When Benedict was chosen as successor of Pius X, it was stated that, in view of the fact his election was due to such a small majority, the presence of two American cardinals in the conclave might have changed the decision of the sacred college. Only the pope, however, has the power to change

 the rules of the conclave, so a successor to Benedict probably would be chosen according to the old regulations.

DOG CONTEST AT MYERS THEATER IS HOWLING SUCCESS

Dogs were in the limelight at the Myers theater Thursday night but the majority of them, by their yelping, said that they preferred to lead a dog's life to that of an actor.

Managers Charles Berlin conducted race contract, and opened it to all owners of dogs in the city. There were 22 entries, of all kinds of dogs—big and little, pretty and homely, dignified and comical.

After the curtain went up on all the dogs and their owners—ensemble—there was a dog parade, which was a howling success. The dog prizes were awarded. Lawrence Conn, 311-ton, had a bull-dog which showed how he shook rabbits, and he was awarded the prize for the dog doing the best trick. Maxine, 3-year-old, a black and white, was awarded the prize for the prettiest and Howard Hagen's for the fastest.

DRY GOODS PRICES HAVE HIT BOTTOM, DEALERS BELIEVE

Retail prices for dry goods will be as much of a mystery with respect to the future of 1922 as during the past year, according to the sentiment which George M. Neumer, chairman of the retail division of the Janesville Chamber of Commerce, brought back from attendance at the Wisconsin Retail Drygoods Merchants' convention at Milwaukee.

However, he said, there is a prevalent feeling that prices are down as far as they will go. Advice given to the retailers at the convention, says Mr. Neumer, is to buy only to fill current needs.

The Kordney tariff bill was brought up during the convention for discussion. Those interested in manufacturing favored high tariffs. It is stated, while some retailers were inclined to believe that lower tariffs would benefit the country by forcing greater competition for a drop in prices. A poll of the 500 members of the association will be taken.

Sidney Dostweck and Louis Levy also attended the convention.

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE.
George Morton goes to work at the home of Planter, a rich man, when his father loses all his property in a livery business. George becomes a horse trainer and as a part of the job acts as groom to Sylvia Planter when she visits. Sylvia is drawn from her horse and thinking her unconscious, George kisses her, calling out that he loves her. She awakes him from the place and George threatens her brother, who goes to horsewhip him, but in a fair fight, he seeks an education, goes to Princeton, meets Betty, a tutor, gets a place on the football team and aids his college to win from Harvard. He makes many acquaintances. He has determined that Sylvia Planter will marry him and he has been waiting for the right time to make the breach between them. But he continues in the determination, after Sylvia is married to George, and at her home meets her friend, Sylvia, which is embarrassing.

PART III THE MARKET-PLACE

George left Princeton with a sense of high. The reputation of a diploma didn't interest him, nor did the cheers he received class day or on the afternoon of the Yale baseball game when, dressed in his Japanese parasol, he led the seniors in front of admiring thousands who audibly identified him for each other.

The man that has done most for Princeton? He admitted he had done a good deal for himself. Of course, Squibs was right and he was abnormally selfish; only it was too bad Betty couldn't have bought him the diamond ring he had wanted. He had tried to make her accept it, but she told him, because Betty couldn't understand selfishness.

He avoided during those last days the chance of seeing her alone, but even in the presence of others he was aware of an alteration in her manner, to be traced, doubtless, to the night of his difficult confession. She was kinder, but her eyes were often puzzled, as if she couldn't understand why he didn't want to see her alone. He counted the moments, anxious for Blodgett and the enveloping atmosphere of his marriage and making any office. That would break the last permanent tie. He would return to Princeton, naturally, but only for a day or two now and then, too short a time to permit his influences appreciably to swoon him.

Without meaning to, he let himself soften on the very edge of his departure when the class sang at the steps of Nassau Hall for the last time. The hymn, the hymn of the college, the hymn, and in lock step, hands on shoulders, shuffled slowly away like men who have accomplished the interment of their youth. The following fellows he would never meet again; but he would see plenty of Goodhue and Wandel and other useful people. Why, then, did he abruptly and sharply regret his separation from the college? He even the submerged ones who had got from Princeton only an education taken like medicine and of about as much value. In the way of this much, induced by permanent farewell, he came upon Dairymple.

"There's no point saying good-bye to you," George offered, kindly.

Of course not. They would meet each other in town so frequently, securing a private enemy behind publicly worn masks of friendship. George was wandering on, but Dairymple halted him. The man was a trifle drunk, and the sentiment of the moment had penetrated his narrow mind.

"Not very good friends, George, you and I."

Then George shrank from his apologies, since he appreciated their precise value.

"Why don't you forget it?" he asked gruffly.

Dairymple nodded, but George knew in the morning the other would regret having said as much as he did.

Immediately after that somber dissolution of the class, George said good-bye to the Balllys. Although it was quite late they sat waiting for him in the study, neat and serene as it had been on that first day a hundred years ago. The room was quite the same except that Bill Gregory's picture had lost prominence while George's stood in the place of honor—an incentive for new men, although George was confident Squibs didn't urge certain of his qualities on his youngsters.

Squibs looked older tonight, nearly as old, George thought, as the discarded towels which he still wore. Mrs. Ballly sat in the shadows. George kissed her and sank on the sofa at her side. She put her hand out and gripped for his, clinging to his fingers with a sort of despair. For a long time they sat without speaking. George put his arm around her and waited for one or the other to break this silence which became unbearable. He couldn't, because as he dreamed among the shadows there, slipped into his mind the appearance and the atmosphere of another room where three had sat without words on the eve of a vital parting. Tawdry details came back of stove and littered table and ungainly chairs, and of swollen hands and swollen eyes. He had suffered an unbearable silence then because he had found himself suddenly incapable of speaking his

Dinner Stories

Little Johnny, though he had been to the poultry show the night before with his father and his uncle, insisted that he be taken again on the night that his mother and aunt declined to go. After pleadings didn't seem to do much, the little fellow's determination, it was decided to take him along.

While at the show the lad enjoyed himself immensely, but on the way out of the building he seemed rather reluctant to leave, and continually looked back inquiringly. Finally he said to his mother, "Ma, let's wait until they let the animals loose."

"Why, Johnny?" said the mother. "They don't let the animals loose."

"Oh, yes, they do," said Johnny. "Last night pa said to Uncle Henry, 'Let's stick around a while. We might get a chance to pick up a couple of chickens.'"

Mr. McNab (after having his lease read over to him)—"I will not sign that. I have not been able to keep Ten Commandments for a mansion in heaven, and I'm no game to tackle about an hundred for two rooms in the 'high street'."

"Who's the mysterious stranger?" asked the town knocker.

"A musical comedy scout. He's looking for recruits."

"Well, he's come to the wrong town. We haven't enough good-looking girls around here to make a success of a tag day."

TALKING THROUGH THE NOSE

There is a teacher in one of the big women's colleges who is starting a class to teach girls how to speak properly. The college has one of the highest reputations in the United States and it seems at first a curious thing that girls as well educated as these that live there should have to be taught to speak. But all the teacher is trying to do is to eliminate the curious nasalness which characterizes American speech.

"We all know the Harvard accent which is so pleasant when it is real and so very unpleasant when it is affected. Some men said this woman's college was trying to make a female Harvard accent. But I'm wishing the lady said good luck for it she sounds a couple of hundred girls into the world every year, with soft cultivated voices and the habit of pronouncing each word distinctly instead of slurring three or four into one continuous sound, I, for one, think the lady will have earned a niche in the hall of fame."

I notice that several papers all over the country have been asking the lady to explain why Americans talk through their noses. If they would do that, the papers say, we should all be able to cure our own particular vocal fault. We have harsh voices and we all know it and we know that it isn't a bit unpatriotic to be ashamed of it.

I think the trouble is we talk too fast and too loud. We get into the habit of forcing the air out of our lungs, so that it gets into the wrong passages and the voice ceases to be musical and becomes merely noisy. If we all talked more softly we would overcome our vocal faults in a very few years. Then our children would grow up with soft voices.

Mate—The best cream that I know of is made from the formula given Monday to "Reader." If you have large pores and blackheads it shows that your digestion has been sluggish and the skin neglected. Drink more water, simplify the diet and take daily baths.

Lucret—You are 20 pounds underweight, which accounts for the thin calves of your legs. Take olive oil and grape juice or the fattening drink which will be given in a few days.

Betty Jo—Peeling the face is never advisable as it rarely gives any improvement to the skin. This method would not destroy superfluous hair as the follicle goes more deeply than the outer skin.

HELPFUL SUGGESTIONS

To remove scorch stains, rub with peroxide; apply until it vanishes, and then finish ironing.

To remove fat from hot soup pour it through a cloth that has been rinsed in cold water, and the fat will remain in the cloth.

CHARGES BIG PROFIT ON LIGHTING BULBS

New York—Profits on electric light bulbs, 16 times greater than on other goods made by the General Electric company, were attributed to that concern Thursday by Samuel Untermyer, during his investigation as counsel for the Lockwood legislative committee. The figures brought out that the company's books, during the examination of a certified public accountant, disclosed $20,000,000 profit in 1920 on sales of $57,000,000 worth of incandescent lamps.

WHOLESALE PRICES NEAR STATIONARY

Few November and December Changes; 21 pct. Lower Than Year Ago.

Washington.—The general level of wholesale prices remained stationary through November and December, the bureau of labor statistics of the department of labor announced Thursday.

Metals and house furnishings were listed as unchanged, while fuel prices showed a slight increase and building materials an increase of 2 percent in December over November.

An increase for the month of 2 percent was reported in the group of miscellaneous commodities, including bran, mill feed, linseed meal, paper, Manila rope, Mexican steel and tankage. Of 327 commodities, 115 were shown to have dropped, 86 increased and 122 remained stationary in price in December.

The general level of wholesale prices in December, according to the announcement, was 21 per cent lower than one year before, with house furnishings goods showing the greatest decrease, 27 per cent; metals and building materials, 24 per cent; farm products, 21 per cent; 21 percent and food, 19 percent. ## COUNTY TO SPEND $4,500 FOR SHOP

Supervisors Buy Building Here for Repair of $120,000 Road Machinery.

Purchase of the Bicknell repair shop on North River street for $4,500 for overhauling road machinery was ordered by the county board to be charged against the road maintenance fund. The highway committee was authorized to make the purchase.

Need of a repair shop for county work was detailed by Commissioner Charles E. Moore. The county has $80,000 worth of concrete road machinery and $40,000 worth of other road equipment. The need of a shop for overhauling was declared to be consistent with economy. In addition to the building, a considerable amount of machinery in the shop.

It is a good buy and we must have some place for repair work," recommended H. B. Moseley, Beloit township. Men who are foremen in the road construction work during the winter are kept at work during the winter on the repair work.

"We get better results doing our work and by improving and repairing some of our machinery it is better than when it was newly purchased," advised Commissioner Moore.

MILTON HAS BANDIT SCARE; POSSE OUT TO SURROUND HOME

Visions of capturing Tommy O'Connor or one of the bandits who shoot without warning flashed across the minds of husky Milton residents during a recent burglar scare. It happened that when a Milton woman and her daughter were going down to the main street from their home, the mother looked back at their house. She was certain she saw a flashlight appear in the house and likewise was certain that the front door was open.

She called the taxicab man, who called the marshal. A posse was gathered at the Commercial club and a flying trip was made to the house. Now there is considerable dispute among the posse members as to whom had the vision and who went to enter the house. There were plenty of volunteers to guard the taxicab with the stove poker and pitchfork brought along as emergency weapons, and, not so many volunteers to go into the house.

But there wasn't any burglar and the excitement went for naught. Also Milton is concerned over the identity of a touring car, last Tuesday night in front of the Eudora garage. Beside the running board was a five gallon jug with a little liquid in the bottom. One sniff and people were convinced it was of the prohibited variety. No one has yet appeared to claim the machine.

But there wasn't any burglar and the excitement went for naught.

MUST SERVE TERM IF JOB CAN'T BE FOUND

Because he did not go to work and was enjoying his fall vacation at home, Octave La Tour, Beloit man serving a sentence under the commitment act for transporting liquor, was taken into custody at Beloit, Thursday, on orders of Sheriff Cash Whitely, Janesville. Sheriff Whitely is now looking for a job for him.

"It is pretty hard to find steady work, don't you know, nowadays," said Mr. Whitely.

LaTour, about 40 years old and married, was given 90 days Jan. 9. If a job is not found, he may make the jail his home for the rest of his sentence.

Daddy Suicide; Child Trailing Liquor Sources

Roscoe, Ill.—Need for an investigation of liquor conditions in Beloit is seen from this side of the Illinois-Wisconsin line in the evidence of a liquor ring, being investigated as the result of the suicide of A. New Swanson, Roscoe farmer. Evelyn, 11 year old daughter, has turned detective to learn the source of his liquor supply. As a result of disclosure, the moonshine trade in the northwestern section of Winnebago county and in South Beloit and Beloit is due for a searching investigation. Co-operation of Wisconsin authorities is being sought.

Weekly English Service Voted to for St. Paul's

Owing to the increased demand for English services which, until now were held only twice a month at St. Paul's Evangelical Lutheran church, the congregation has voted that in the future two services, one in German and one in English, shall be held regularly every Sunday morning. The new order will go into effect Feb. 5, the German service beginning at 9:30 and the English service at 11 a. m. It is announced by Rev. E. J. J. J. J.
